The various ways ruakh ("spirit") is used in the Hebrew Bible contributes a great deal to our understanding of the revelation of the person and divinity of the Holy "Spirit" in the Old Testament and in the New. To begin with it is important to realize that out of the 378 occurrences of the term "spirit" in the Old Testament it actually means "wind" or "breath," not "spirit," about 140 times (the exact number depends on how one reads certain passages).

The Hebrew Bible is a collection of 24 ancient Hebrew books considered holy by adherents to the Jewish faith. But how did this collection come about? Who decided which books would be included, and which wouldn't be, and when did this happen? This process, known as canonization, did not take place at once, or at some great council meeting.
